By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Slowly'the conviction is growing among thoughtful folk that much of our current talk—about the great themes of peace and social justice and a re-made world—is really superficial. We are engrossed with slogans, and ready-made schemes of "a new world order," and with organizations and cliches. We talk like the bandar-log, assuming that our much chattering will bring great goals to pass. We are in a wordplagued era.

Disillusioned with the common mood, we glimpse the great truth that the only way to the desirable things we dream and discuss is by recognition of the nature of man and of God. Since there is an Eternal Ruler of the universe, mankind one by one, must accept and know Him, before we can escape out of the world-wide slough into which our smallness and selfishness and sin have led us.

The truth behind and before and beneath all other truths—the truth that most vitally concerns every mortal—is the truth about God. When humans get into right relations with Him, then they will and with our world. A lesser one than God would wipe out this whole sinful generation, and start and cosmopolite, but as a heavy-heard father. He had sought for ceece as an anodyne for his hurt fleather. He had sought for ceece as an anodyne for his hurt fleather. He had sought for ceece as an anodyne for his hurt fleather. He had sought for ceece as an anodyne for his hurt fleather. He had sought for ceece as an anodyne for his hurt fleather. He had sought for ceece as an anodyne for his hurt fleather. He had sought for ceece as an anodyne for his hurt fleather. and beneath all other truths—the truth that most vitally concerds every mortal—is the truth about God. When humans get into right relations with Him, then they will be in right relations one with another. And no other how. The greatest philosophers and prophets and poets, and seekers of every sort, have seen, dimly or clearly, the central significance of God. The Day's Great Quest.

Gropingly, the whole world today is seeking the Infinite Power that will lead us out of the morass in which we flounder. We instinctively know that we must have something bigger, grander, nohler, profounder than the facts and purposes and programs of material-mind-ed statesmen and social theorists. In our heart of hearts we feel that we must somehow find God. On the states of every side, even the most secular voices are echoing this spiritual quest, a modernization of Job's "Oh, that I know where I might find Him." A recent issue of "Time" discerns "a trend that promises to go forward by leaps and bounds—the trend back to religion."

Right here a cautionary word needs to be spoken. "Religiom" is a vague term, that may mean much or nothing. Only when it is used to embrace the reality of a living God, and His will for man, may it be employed as the symbol of life's greatest objective. "Back to the God of the Bible" is a better slogan than "back to religion."

What Sort of God?

Our present need, in an unprecedented world emergency, is the employed as the symbol of life's greatest objective. "Back to the God of the Bible" is a better slogan than "back to religion."

In the Bible we find Him as Creator and Ruler, the Eternal Sovereign, ever with a concern for the man He has made in His own image. Speculation has dwelt long upon the man-likeness of God and the Godlikeness of man. Both are true, and both are susceptible of true, and both are susceptible of Texas Backward.

Dr. R. L. Cherry of Austin, state department of health, field director, local health services, outlined the proposed establishment of a health unit for Navarro County. He said two-thirds of the counties in the nation had such units, while Texas was backward. Five years ago there were only ten such units, but at the present time, there are fifty-

Requisites for the establishment of the center, according to Dr. Cherry, are:

1. Endorsement by the county medical society.

2. City or county or both agree to contribute the necessary funds.

Such a unit, it was stated, includes a director who directs the rogram, confers with physicians and conducts a public health edu-cational campaign.

WYOMING PINNACLE

Starter Secretary

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(R)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today the new tax law—which just went into effect yesterday—was only a "good start' and that "the tax bill next year will have to be a genuinely all-out bill, a genuent of the lay upon all in accordance."

Of Treasury Says

A new enterprise dedicated to the improvement suburban homes in the trade territory of Corsicana will be formally presented to the general public on Saturday when the Butane Gas Com-when the Butane Gas Company has its grand opening in elaborate new quarters on Highway 73 north of the city near the cutoff to Beaton Street.

The firm is owned by U. C. Roney, a native of Navarro County who was reared in the Pursley and Emhouse communities, later engaging in the insurance business in Ennis about 1934. In 1939 he established his first unit of the Butane Company at Ennis, and then moved his headquarters to Corsicana in June of the present year.

A large business structure has been erected by Mr. Roney which affords large display rooms and offices, commodious warehouses for his lines of merchandise, in addition to fuel storage and service departments. With the Ellis County unit, the firm has an investment in excess of $50,000 and establishment of headquarters in Corsicana mas an investment ment of headquarters in Corsicana has brought about ten new families to the city.

Policy Is Announced.

"We are building our business around the policy of supplying every possible improvement for the farm and suburban home. We will maintain a complete stock of gas appliances and fixtures, pressure water systems, windmills, plumbing supplies and fixtures, pressure water systems, windmills, plumbing supplies and fixtures, chairs and suburban home. We will maintain a complete stock of gas appliances and fixtures in addition to fuel plants, electrical appliances and fixtures, pressure water systems, windmills, plumbing supplies and fixtures, chairs and suburban home. ABOUT NUMBER TANK CARS IS DISPUTED

RAILROADS SAY 24,000 CARS AVAILABLE; ICKES CLAIMS AROUND 5,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(P)— The yess-there-is, no-there-isn't quarrel about the number of tank cars available to carry petroleum products to the East produced a railroad estimate today that more than 24,000 could be put on the job.

The new figure was supplied to a senate committee investigating reports on oil and gasoline shortages on the Atlantic seaboard by J. J. Pelley, president of the association of American railroads, whose previous, and lower, estimate had been disrupted by Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes as absurding the her.

eum Co-ordinator ickes as absurdly high.
Disputing Ickes in turn, Pelley asserted that it would present "no problem" to the railroads to load the 800 to 900 cars he said were needed to haul 200,000 barrels of oil to the East daily.

FUTURE PAYMENTS FUND ESTABLISHED

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 2.—(P)—A "future payment fund" to enable farmers to meet future installments on federal land banks loans has been established by the Federal and Bank of Wichita, President C. G. Shull said today. The plan, Shull explained, permits farmers with loans to safeguard against future poor cropylelds and adverse economic conditions which may follow the European war by putting their monropean war by putting their mon-ny in a trust fund to be used in payment of future maturing loan instalments.

Money in the fund will draw interest at the same rate charged on loans, Shull said.

"Farmers in the Wichita Federal Land Bank district of Kan-sas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico in general have enjoyed good crop yields this year," said Shull, 'and prices they are re-ceiving for what they produce are sufficient to enable them to operate on a profit basis.
"Now while farmers find them-selves in their favorable position, their first consideration should be to handle their business afficirs. eral Land Bank district of Kanto handle their business affairs in such a manner as to insure their future security."

At this moment Hitler is overlord of the continent. But his resources are falling away and he cannot replace them in Europe. Either he must knock the allies out quickly—which isn't likely, especially with winter at hand—or he must break through the enemy to fresh resources, especially oil. As I have pointed out before, that is the chief object of his drive into the Ukraine. He figuried on acquiring great riches there but they have turned to ashes under. Stalin's scorched earth policy. Thus we find the nazi chief looking anxiously toward the Caucasus, and that is the apparent aim of his drive now through the Ukraine. That route leads to strategic advantage and supplies.

Closer Co-operation Forecast
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(F)—
Closer economic co-operation between the United States and the Free French was forecast today as the result of informal talks between Rene Plevin, minister of economy, finance and colonies in the newly constituted Free French national council, and Undersecretary Welles and other state department officials.

Officials emphasized that the informal talks in no way involved recognition of the provisional government established by General Charles De Gauule or diplomatic relations with the Free French, but concerned chiefly economic affairs affecting the United States in areas controlled by the Free French forces. PREPARATIONS NEAR COMPLETION ANNUAL TYLER ROSE SHOW

TYLER, Oct. 2.—(Spl.)—Crews working day and night are bringing construction work near a finish for the annual rose show, one of the leading attractions of the ninth annual Texas Rose Festival to be held here Oct. 9 through Oct. 12, according to Mrs. Henry Eagle, chairman of the rose show committee.

The 1941 rose show will be twice as large as its predecessors in space and quantity of exhibits Many thousands of blooms will enter into the display which is composed of several separate and distinct sections.

There will be a floral fairyland in one of the units, employing 50,000 blossoms daily, in cettings of picturesque trees and plants. It will be fantastic but logical.

Another unit will present for the first time a new thornless rose of the garden type, only one of its kind yet discovered.

More than 150 varieties of roses will be exhibited in another division, with displays of arrangements for home use. Outstanding rose varieties will be shown in a special booth. Several rose garden designs will be carried out in model form, realistic in every detail.

model form, realistic in every detail.

The large main garden is colonial in design, having all the qualities of age and charm.

Other units are in keeping with the purpose of the show—to present roses in all their loveliness and to demonstrate ways to use roses in landscaping and on all occasions to the best advantage. A graduate of Princeton, Henry L. Thompson, landscape architect, and his organization designed this year's show and are constructing it.

SAFETY IN HOME IS MOSTLY GOOD SENSE, GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 1.—
(Special).—Safety" in the home is mostly good sense and good house keeping, says Bernice Claytor, extension service specialist in home improvement, in urging rural people to "fail-proof" their homes. Falls sends thousands of people to the hospital every year and cause many deaths. In fact, life insurance companies report that 80 per cent of the accidental deaths of persons 65 years or over are due to falls.

of a substantial little kitchen step-ladder. "Don't trust yourself on a chair, a table or a stool," is her advice.

In the living room slippery floors and small, loose rugs are dangerous. These rugs can be made safe by use of a non-skid fabric underneath or by using some of the various rug anchors now on the market. Falls in the bath tub may be saved by a strong bar on the wall or a rubber mat in the tub.

In addition, the whole family should be encouraged to help keep the soap off the bathroom floor or the bottom of the tub.

cause many deaths. In fact, life insurance companies report that 80 per cent of the accidental deaths of persons 65 years or over are due to falls.

The specialist says more falls happen on steps and stairs than anywhere else in the house. To overcome this danger she suggests the following of specifications recommended by the U. S. Bureau of standards in building safe stairs. Another is to install hand-rails for every flight on at least one side of the stairs. This goes for cellar steps and attic stairs as well, she says.

Home stairways should be well-lighted, and all steps should be kept firm and in good repair. Stairs finished with wax should not be slippery, the specialist warns. Likewise, carpets on stairs and in hallways should be kept free from worn spots and upturned edges, or they may catch a heel or toe.

Fall hazards in the kitchen include water or food spilled on the floor and climbing up to high shelves. For reaching high storage space, Mrs. Claytor suggests use of a substantial little kitchen stepladder. "Don't trust yourself on a chair, a table or a stool," is her advice.

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 1.—
(Special).—To obtain increased yields and insure proper function-ing of legumes in utilizing the nitrogen of the air, E. A. Miller, and stression service agronomist, suggests use to degree with fresh culture.

Miller bases his suggestions on the premise that there is no certain way to determine whether the outilize nitrogen from the air through the action of certain bacteria living in the nodules on its joots is functioning. If there are no nodules, or if the bacteria represented by the proper function.

Fall hazards in the kitchen include water or food spilled on the floor and climbing up to h of soybean hay was increased 43 per cent, the number of nodules increased 400 per cent, and the root development about 20 per cent at the Angleton experiment sub-station in the Gulf coast prairie. There was also considerable increase in soybean hay at Temple and at College Station due to incoulation.

It is an occurrence that happened in Navarro county not many miles from Corsicana.

The hunter in question bagged four squirrels Tuesday afternoon—fired four shots from a double-barrel shotgun purchased 40 years ago from the late F. P. Woodfour squirrels were killed. No dog was used and no glasses were worn by the hunter—J. M. Henry, well-known and well-liked Corsi-canan, who is 83 years and six months of age.

Mr. Henry claims he has killed as many squirrels in the past forty years as any average man could shoulder in a sack. In support of that statement, the sportsman reported he killed 159 in 1904, 152 in 1905, and fewer every years since that time during the squirrel season.

One of his tenets is to keep his mind as young as his body.
